

GRAND FIESTA WILL BE HELD ON STREET TONIGHT

Down-Town Carnival Is Planned As Good Time Feature Of Industrial Week—Prizes For Many Costumes

A grand fiesta and old-fashioned street carnival along Main Street will be staged on the streets of the downtown section Thursday night as the big good time feature of industrial week.

Everything suggestive of carefree unalloyed happiness and frivolity will be in evidence on this occasion. Masked and costumed paraders, feather ticklers, confetti and the din of horns will all contribute to the gaiety of the fun frolic, in which the general public is invited to participate.

The festivities will be opened by the annual grand rally of the Phoenix union high school, in celebration of the contemplated victory over the El Paso football team the following day. Following the parade Queen Frivolity will take command and her legion of subjects will be given the freedom of the city's streets, to march and counter-march at will, and with the aid of horns and mechanical devices to raise all the merry bedlam necessary to make the affair a happy, noisy success.

No Street Dancing
The arrangements for an open-air street dance have been given up on account of the chill of the late evening hours. As a substitute special attractions and augmented orchestras have been arranged for by every dance floor in the city, with the aim of providing continued merriment for dancers until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Prizes for the most ludicrous costumes in the street carnival will be awarded and these will be announced at the industrial exposition tent at 10 o'clock. Here a special program of vaudeville and musical numbers will be provided, and there will be special carnival features.

INTERMOUNTAIN RATE HEARING SET FOR NOVEMBER 17

Amos A. Betts of the corporation commission yesterday received word that the intermountain state rate case would come up for hearing November 17. A further postponement having been denied by the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Betts and Roland Johnson of the traffic department of the chamber of commerce will leave Saturday to lend their efforts to the end that Arizona might not be forced to pay higher freight rates on shipments from eastern points than the rate paid to Pacific coast terminals.

A postponement was asked by the intermountain states because of changes made by the transcontinental railroads in their application for lower through rates on commodities. The changes, Mr. Betts held, would require a complete change of exhibits and data gathered for the hearing, but in order to overcome this the I. C. C. will amend the different states' case filed amended exhibits after the case is closed.

This was the word received from J. A. Ford, secretary of the Interstate Rate Association, who stated in his letter that in view of the fact that the hearings before the commission were scheduled in 10 different cities it would be impossible to continue the case.

Mr. Betts will return to Phoenix as soon as possible to appear for the commission at the hearing before the interstate commerce commission in this city relative to an increase in rates within the state by the American Express company.

On the ground that the rates were higher in this zone than other zones where increases have been granted, the commission denied an advance. The matter was appealed.

The case is of particular interest in that it has the same point at issue as the railroad cases now before the supreme court of the United States in the Wisconsin case, in which the I. C. C. raised the rates after the application had been denied by the state.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE TO RAISE FUND FOR MARSHAL FOCH

The school children of Maricopa county have been asked by A. L. Jones, county school superintendent, to each contribute one penny toward the French Restoration fund now being raised in the United States by the school children to be presented to Marshall Foch before his return to France. The pennies are to be given to the teachers in each school in the county by the pupils who in turn will send the contributions to Mr. Jones. Each county school superintendent in the state will then forward the amounts to Governor Thomas E. Campbell to be sent to the headquarters of the fund committee in New York.

Under the plan made by the national committee a medal is to be presented to Marshall Foch from the school children of the United States, each state in the union to contribute $100 toward the fund. With the remainder of the fund collected from the school children of the United States, two school departments are to be rebuilt in the devastated districts of France equivalent to two of our finest high schools. They are to be known as the "Washington-Lafayette" and the "Foch-Pershing" high schools. The committee hopes to raise from $6,000 to $10,000 from each state for this purpose.

Duplicates of the medal presented to Marshall Foch will be given to President Harding and General Pershing at the same time. Copies of letters from each governor in the United States will be presented to Marshall Foch at the same time, the letters to be from each governor as the chief representative of the school children.

DISPLAY BY V. F. W. AN ATTRACTIVE ONE

The booth of Matheola Post No. 129, Veterans of Foreign Wars, showing hundreds of war relics and overseas souvenirs, both from the World war and from the Philippines and Cuba during the Spanish war, is attracting much interest. The organization is composed entirely of veterans who saw foreign service in time of war and every article in the exhibit has a complete story of its own.

Down-town club rooms have recently been opened over the Rose Tree where members can get the benefit of them when they are needed. It is planned to completely furnish the rooms for lodge and club purposes, and the location is considered an important feature that will appeal to the men. It gives them a place where they can drop in for a part of their noon hour or any evening. Eventually there will be copies of the best histories of the wars fought on foreign soil and a collection of the histories that have been published by A. E. F. divisions and smaller units.

It is for the purpose of providing the means of furnishing and maintaining these privileges that a benefit fund is now being raised by the post. High rent must be paid for downtown location and it will take considerable time to equip the room with all the histories and official photographs. A benefit dance is being given Saturday night, November 12.

The club rooms will be open all day during the rest of the week and the public as well as those veterans who see overseas service are invited to call and see what is being provided for the membership.

ARMY OFFICER AND WIFE HERE ON VISIT

Capt. and Mrs. H. W. Worcester (Lacy Nelson) arrived in Phoenix yesterday to spend part of the army officer's month leave of absence with Mrs. Worcester's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Nelson of North Central avenue.

Captain Worcester has been stationed at Schofield Barracks, Island of Oahu, since last November, when he and his bride sailed from San Francisco to the post where Captain Worcester was ordered.

Well known and liked in Phoenix, the young folk will be entertained extensively during the next few weeks. Before her marriage Miss Nelson was one of the most popular girls in society.

Before the war her husband was connected with the state land commission and later with the city government. He went overseas with the 51st division and continued in service after the war. He is attached to the 17th cavalry.

HOME ECONOMICS IS LECTURE SUBJECT FOR THIS AFTERNOON

An inspiring talk on home economics, which will be of especial interest to all those interested in vocational training work, will be delivered at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the School Administration building, 321 North First avenue, by Miss Helen Hahn, head of the training school for vocational training at the University of Arizona.

This is the third of a series of free lectures which have been put on under the auspices of the Industrial Week committee. The second of the series was delivered to a crowded auditorium yesterday afternoon by Prof. R. B. Thompson, who discussed the practical side of the poultry industry. In answering the question, Can the poultry industry be made to pay in the Salt River valley, Professor Thompson stated that success depended on just three things, the individual, the environment provided for the stock and the character of the breeding stock. With these three prerequisites he assured his audience that poultry can be made to pay here and pay well.

This afternoon's lecture will be a special treat for housekeepers as well as those interested in vocational work. Miss Hahn has a pleasing personality and the knack of putting things in an easy understandable manner. In securing her services in connection with the course, the committee feels that it is bringing to Phoenix one of the brightest and inspiring women of the state, and all women are especially urged to hear her.

This lecture, as those which have preceded it, will be free to the general public. The last lecture of the series will be given Saturday by A. O. Neal, registrar of the university. Mr. Neal is rated as an expert on the subject of rural education, and will have much of interest to disclose along this line.

GIANT SCUTTLE IS CENTER OF EXHIBIT

Probably no display in the Industrial Week exposition tent has aroused so much favorable comment as that of the Capitol Fuel and Feed company. Through beauty of design and blending of colors the company has prepared an artistic exhibit for the display of its principal product, lump coal.

More than 100 yards of orange and black bunting were used by Mrs. E. T. Hazelett and Mrs. Frank J. Mangham, designers of the booth, in the decorations. The bunting is draped from the four wooden pillars and tied in the middle with gold braid. The cords about the display are gold braid entwined with black. The base is also of black with a gigantic copper and brass coal scuttle, highly polished and five feet high, forming a splendid contrast. This scuttle was originally the property of the American Bituminous Coal company and was loaned to the Capitol Fuel and Feed company for exhibition purposes. The great yellow chrysanthemums complete the exhibit.

All work on the booth was done by Mrs. Hazelett and Mrs. Mangham, both well known Phoenix women.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB
The Roosevelt Neighborhood club will give a dance in the neighborhood house Friday night, Nov. 11. This is the first of a series of dances to be sponsored by the club. These dances will be given for the young people of the district, a place mothers can feel free to allow their daughters to attend. Club members will be hostesses and generally supervise the program for the evening.

The endorsement of the Neighborhood club in giving these dances is in line with a resolution to promote better dancing which was recently approved by the Central District Federation of Women's Clubs. A buffet supper will be served.
